

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A watching system has a watching camera that takes pictures of a field to output image data. The watching system records image data in a disk recorder which records conventional broadcast program. The watching system transmits the image data to a mobile terminal. The watching system prefers an internal call to a public call. The watching system carries out a management against a danger when a suspected person is detected. The watching system changes the management according to the detected time. The watching system changes the management according to whether or not anyone is at home.

10026904-122701